What Can Aries Expect In March?

© 2025 MoonOmens.com

Happy early Birthday, dear Aries.
This month is very special and encouraging for you, but it can also be intimidating from time to time. It can be a bit frightening or demanding. There are big things going on, and March is your month. It is the beginning of your season, and March is related to your ruler, Mars, and to marching. You will be marching towards your inner light. You will be marching towards yourself in a way you have never done before. This is just the beginning of a whole new chapter on your journey.

© 2025 MoonOmens.com

You are growing from ignorance to enlightenment through many different stages. You are starting to dig a little deeper into who you are, into the synchronicities, into the signs that come up, and into your relationships. You realize that you are in a participatory relationship with the cosmos, and you are learning how to bring potential form into manifested form. You are starting to learn more about the archetypes, and you're realizing what kind of archetypes you're embodying and channeling.

© 2025 MoonOmens.com

Archetypes are abstract forms and patterns, & they underpin your unconscious. You are being invited on a great adventure, but you should know that the call for adventure usually comes in the form of longing. You are asked to look into your deepest longings and where they might be leading you. It takes courage to dream and imagine a better life —it really does—and you will be doing that now. You will be truly working on it.

© 2025 MoonOmens.com

You may feel emptiness and vulnerability while contemplating what has not yet arrived, but you know that this is a very important part of the healing process and of the process of self-recognition. Symbols and archetypes operate from the unconscious, and you are about to realize that the majority of people are usually totally unaware of why they behave the way they do.

The month begins with Venus going retrograde in your sign, and she will be retrograde until 13th of April when she stations direct in Pisces. Venus will retrograde back into Pisces on the 27th of March. So, you have Venus retrograde in your sign almost the whole month which is very powerful for your relationships, love relationships, and resolving issues from the past related to love relationships. This is also related to your sense of self-worth and to dealing with things from the past that will help you build greater self-trust and self-love, but self-love that is rooted in Heart Chakra, self-love that is rooted in your soul, self-love that is rooted in truth.

© 2025 MoonOmens.com

Venus retrograde in your sign brings you a lot of introspection, reviews, reevaluations, reconnections, and reconsiderations about your relationships, your values, and your ability to be in love with life no matter what. You may be realizing that many things you thought were important are not that important anymore. You are starting to simplify your life, but it may not be easy at the beginning. Venus re-enters your sign on the 30th of April. This is when you will be gaining a lot of clarity about what you've been going through regarding your relationships, your love life, your physical appearance, your behavior, & your sense of self.

© 2025 MoonOmens.com

You can expect ex-lovers to show up in your life, or you may be dealing with certain things from the past. You will be questioning some of your relationships, including your behavior in relationships. You are learning what truly brings you joy and happiness, and you may be coming back to certain things you really enjoyed doing in the past. This is something that is connected to the previous Venus retrograde cycle that happened between the 2nd of March and 15th of April 2017.

© 2025 MoonOmens.com

Mercury enters your sign on the 3rd of March, and this makes you more expressive, more able to say things you want to say, and more straightforward and direct. You can expect significant news and messages during this time and a lot of contacts and exchanged messages and information. But Mercury stations retrograde in your sign on the 15th of March, and Mercury will be retrograde until the 7th of April. It will be retrograde in your sign until the 29th of March. So, you will have Mercury and Venus, two personal planets, both retrograde in your sign in your first house of who you are and how you behave.

© 2025 MoonOmens.com

This is very important, and you will be questioning many things about your life, your behavior, your identity and individuality, and your personality. You will be more introspective, and you can expect powerful thoughts about your past and insights that come to you through past experiences. People from your past may come up in your life in a very significant way. You can expect news and messages from the past, or you can expect news and messages from people you haven't seen or heard from in a while. This is a great time for talking about things from the past, opening up to yourself, and having the courage to face your past and deal with things you've been suppressing or denying.

© 2025 MoonOmens.com

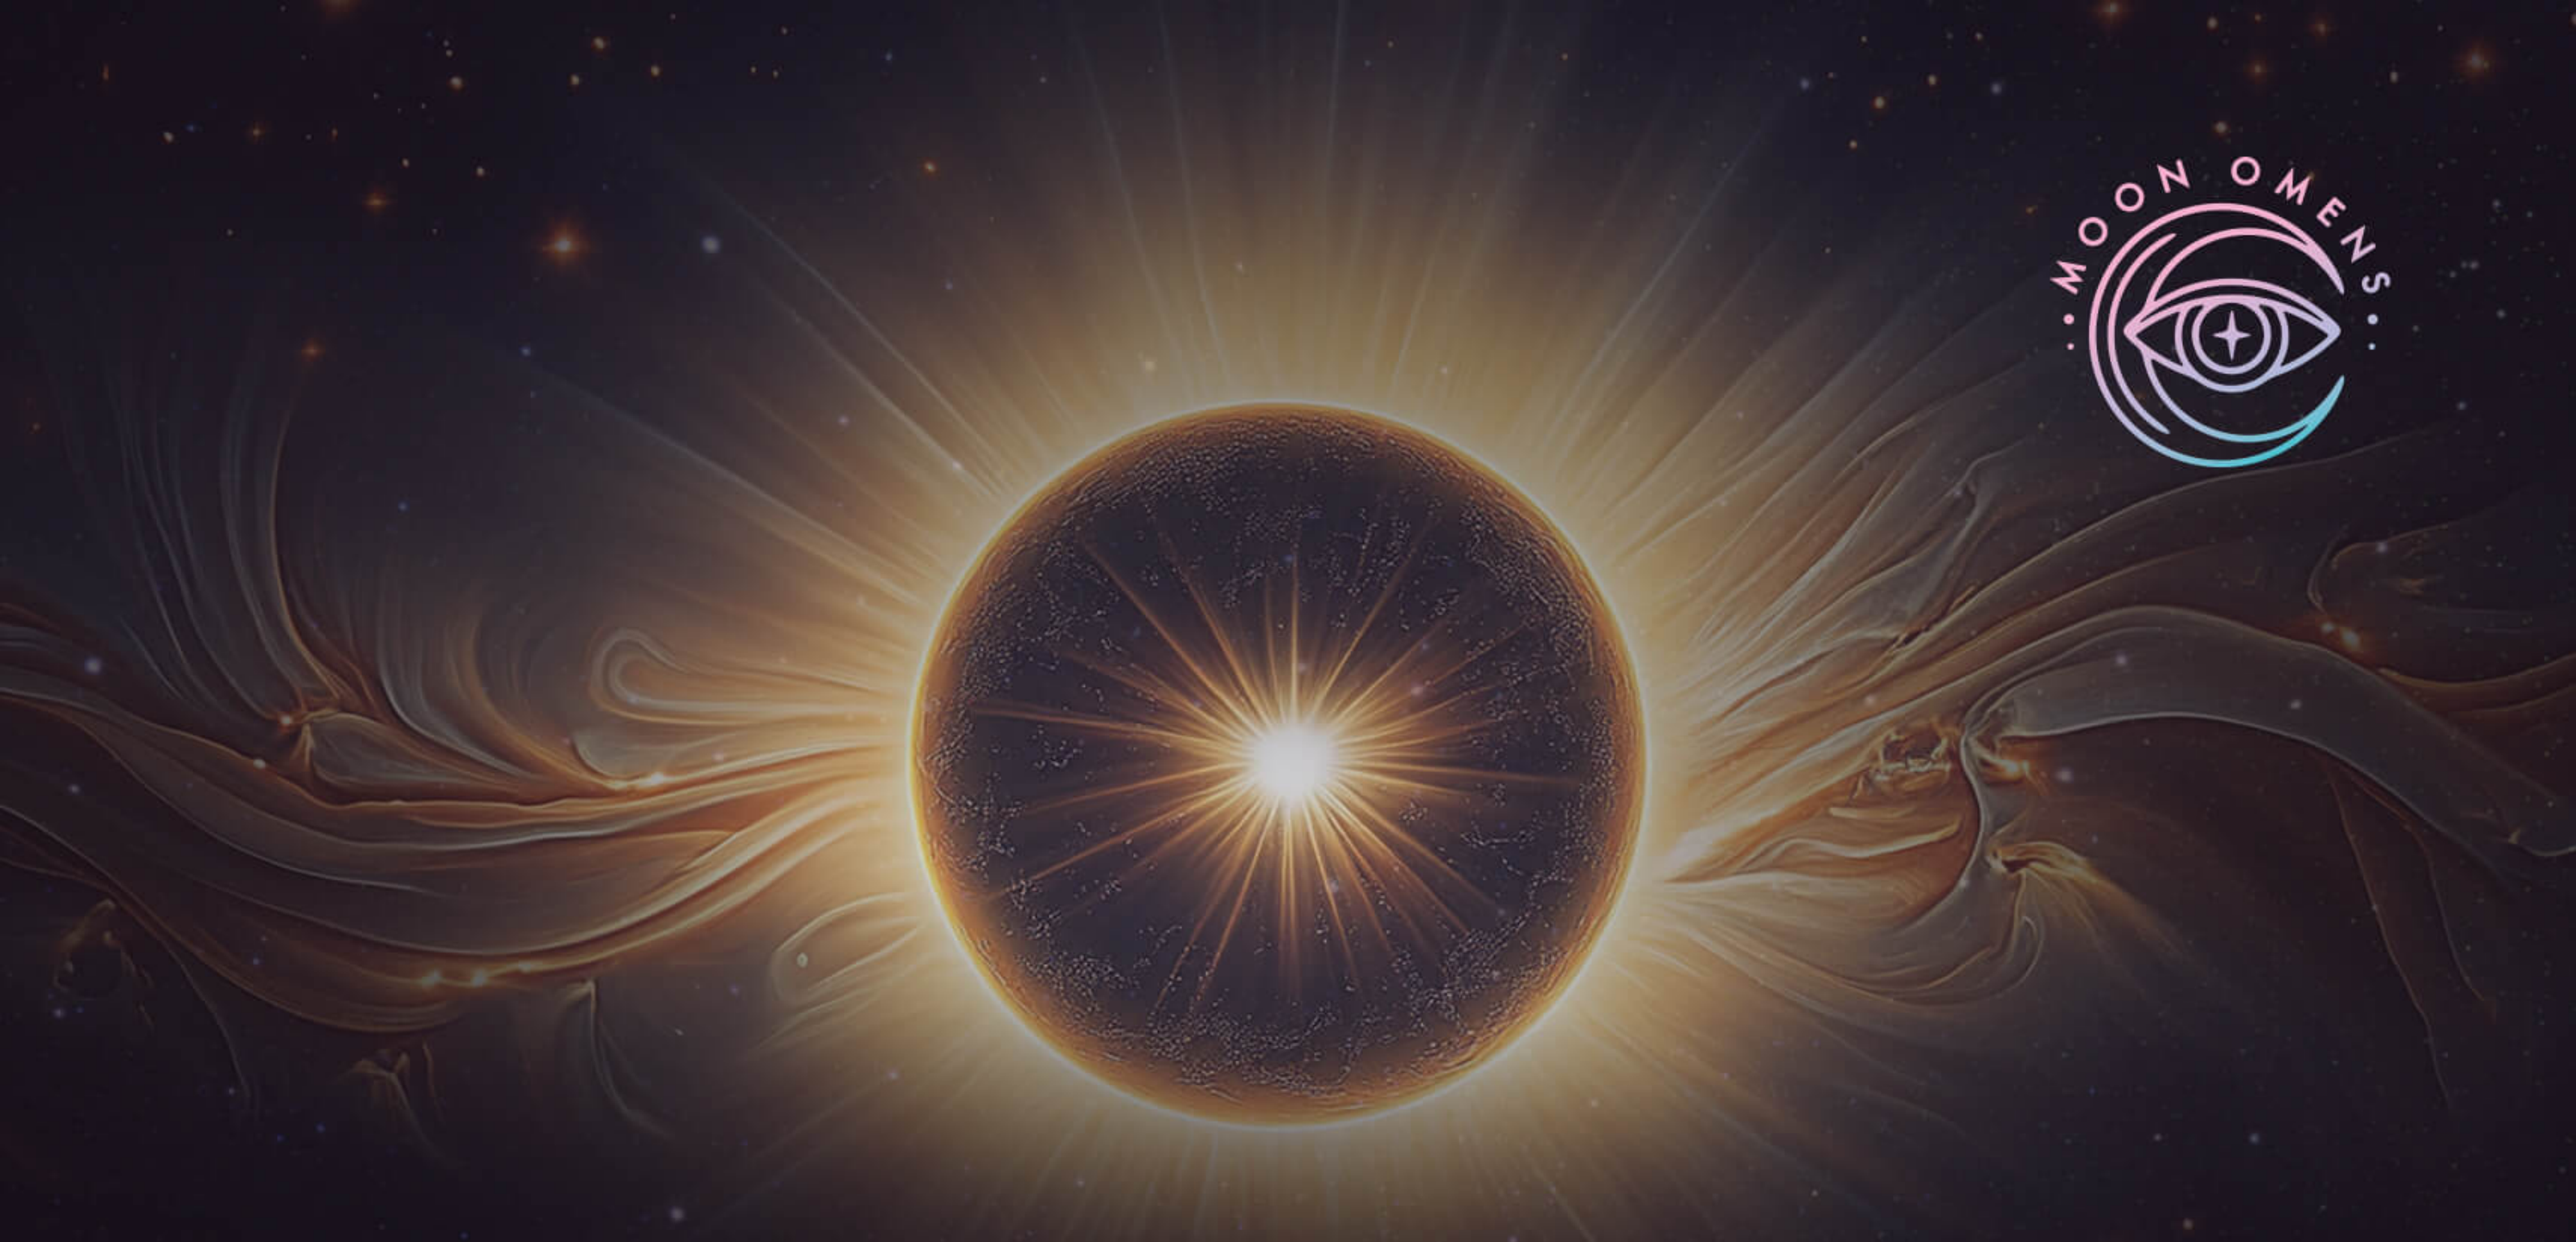
On the 14th of March, there's a Full Moon Lunar Eclipse happening in the sign of Virgo in your sixth house of health, work, routines, habits, lifestyle, schedules, organization, service to others, everyday life, and pets. There's something fated and destined going on related to your health and healing, your responsibilities and hard work, and your self-nurturance and self-nourishment. You are leaving behind outdated habits and routines, and it will be intense. You may be saying goodbye to a certain lifestyle, and this is a powerful time to reorganize your life completely. You can discover more about what this means for you in the Full Moon section of this monthly experience.

© 2025 MoonOmens.com

On the 20th of March, the Sun enters your sign, marking the beginning of your season, dear Aries. This is your time of the year, your mini rebirth, and your new year. This is a time for new chapters, new ways of shining your light, being who you truly are, being authentic, and having your own authority without imposing your will onto others.

You are learning a lot about self-authority and self-control. This is your time to ask the Universe what you can do in order to align yourself with your highest expression and qualities. You are more focused on yourself, & together with Venus and Mercury retrograde in your sign, this is a very powerful time for deep healing of who you think you are.

© 2025 MoonOmens.com



On the 29th of March, there's a New Moon Solar Eclipse happening in your sign, and this is profoundly powerful and transformative for you. This is the last Eclipse in the series of Eclipses that have been active in the last eighteen months. This is some kind of true initiation into everything you've been working on in this last year and a half. You are about to experience fated and destined things in your life, and this can be a whole new way of being who you are.

© 2025 MoonOmens.com

Eclipses are intense, life-changing events that bring situations, people, and circumstances that are unavoidable. This is something that will bring you a sense of purpose and new insights about yourself that could be truly powerful for you in the next nineteen years. You can discover more about what this means for you in the New Moon section of this monthly journey.

© 2025 MoonOmens.com

And last but not least, Neptune, the lord of illusion, deception, confusion, meditation, transcendence and spiritual qualities is changing signs after 14 years. It's entering your sign where it will be until the 22nd of October 2025. So, this won't be a total shift of Neptune into your sign, but just a small snapshot of what it brings and how it feels to have Neptune in your sign. You will start facing some of your strongest illusions about yourself, and you will keep breaking them. This is a fantastic transit to connect with those parts of yourself that are intangible, untouchable, invisible, suppressed, repressed, shut down, and forgotten.

Part 2

Additional Important March Dates For Aries

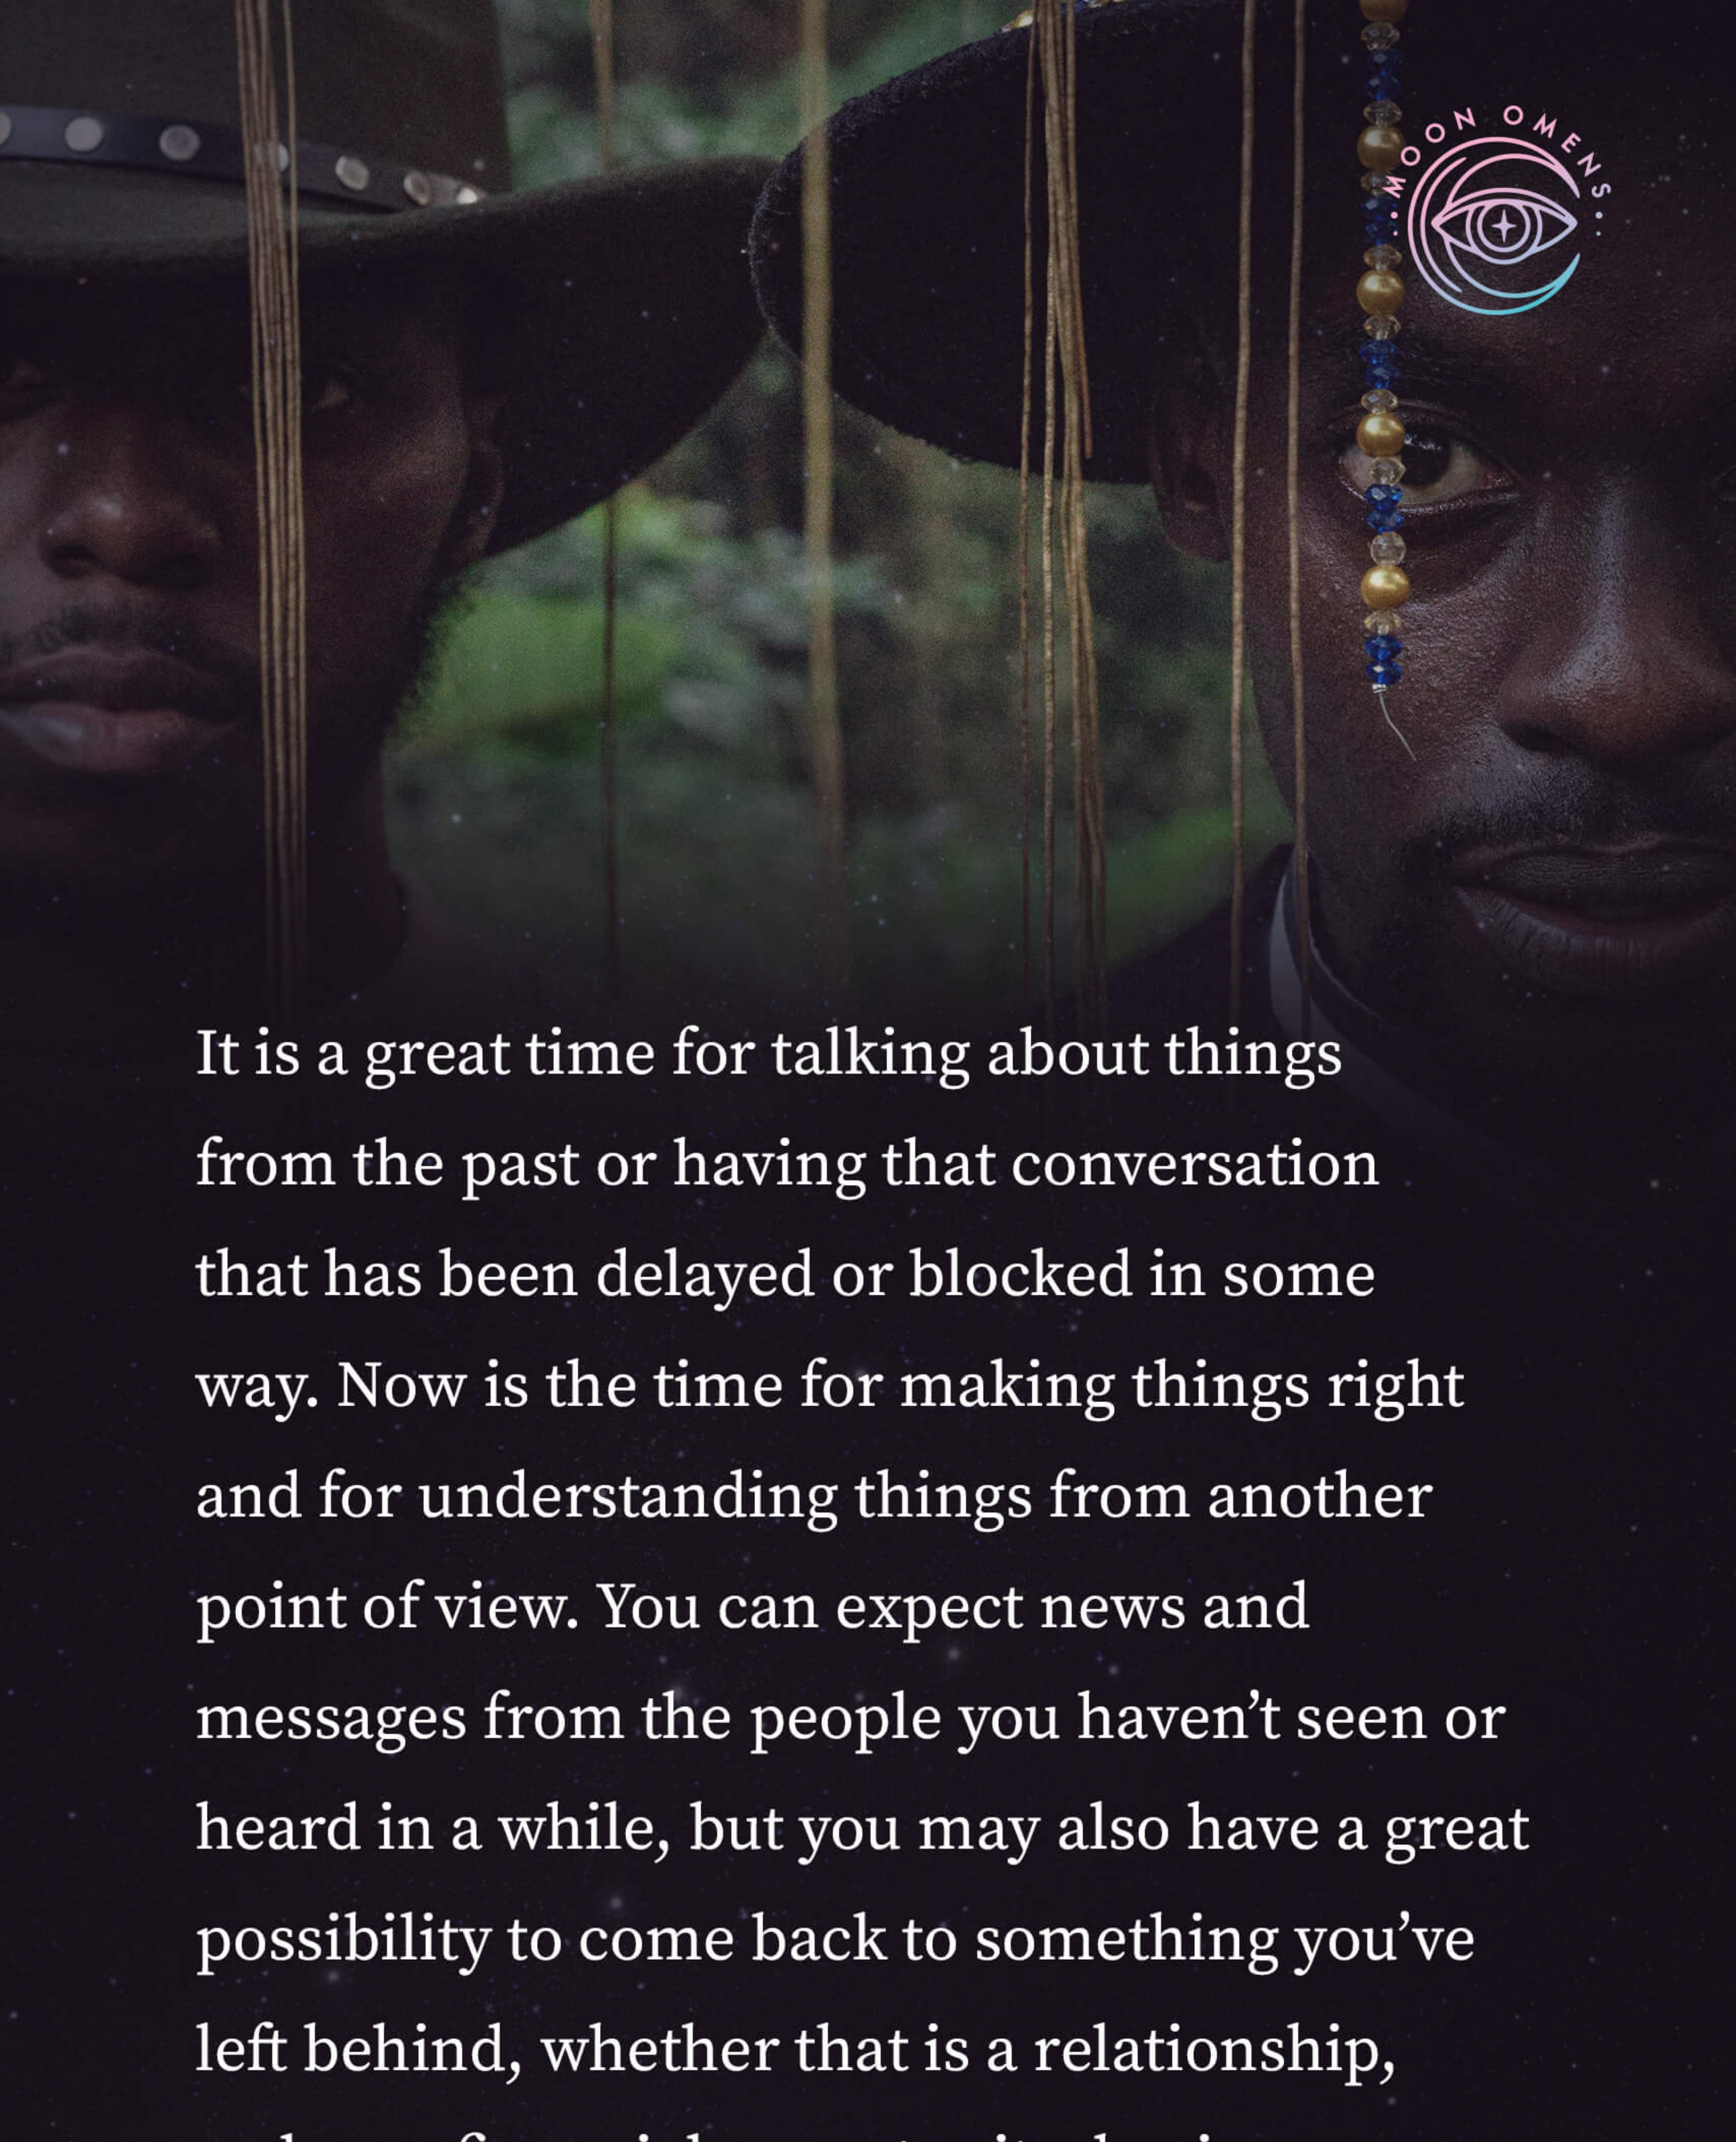
© 2025 MoonOmens.com

Dear Aries, other important dates for you are the 8th of March when the Sun in Pisces makes a trine with your ruler, Mars, in Cancer. This is impacting your twelfth and fourth houses. This can be a very beautiful time for healing within your family, emotional healing, and deep insights about your childhood, your past, and your ancestors. Some family secrets could be revealed in a beneficial way. You have the support to resolve some emotional and family drama during this time.

© 2025 MoonOmens.com

On the 11th of March, there's a conjunction between Mercury and Venus, both retrograde in your sign. This is a powerful time for deep introspection and reconnections with people from your past. You may get together with someone from your past. This is a great time for conversations with ex-lovers, but also for second chances in your romantic relationships. This can also be related to your finances, your values, your qualities, things you love doing, things you've always wanted to do, things you've been thinking about, or things you've been planning.

© 2025 MoonOmens.com



It is a great time for talking about things from the past or having that conversation that has been delayed or blocked in some way. Now is the time for making things right and for understanding things from another point of view. You can expect news and messages from the people you haven't seen or heard in a while, but you may also have a great possibility to come back to something you've left behind, whether that is a relationship, a plan, a financial opportunity, business deal, or personal wants and needs.

© 2025 MoonOmens.com

On the 22nd, there's a conjunction between the Sun and retrograde Venus in your sign, and on the 24th, there's a conjunction between the Sun and retrograde Mercury. This is another great opportunity to have the courage to say what needs to be said, to make things happen, and to use this opportunity that you've missed in the past. Expect second chances and help from an authority figure. You are able to shine your light and gain self-authority, and through this, you will be able to resolve things in your close personal relationships through conversation.

Part 3

Aries Relationship With Inner Self

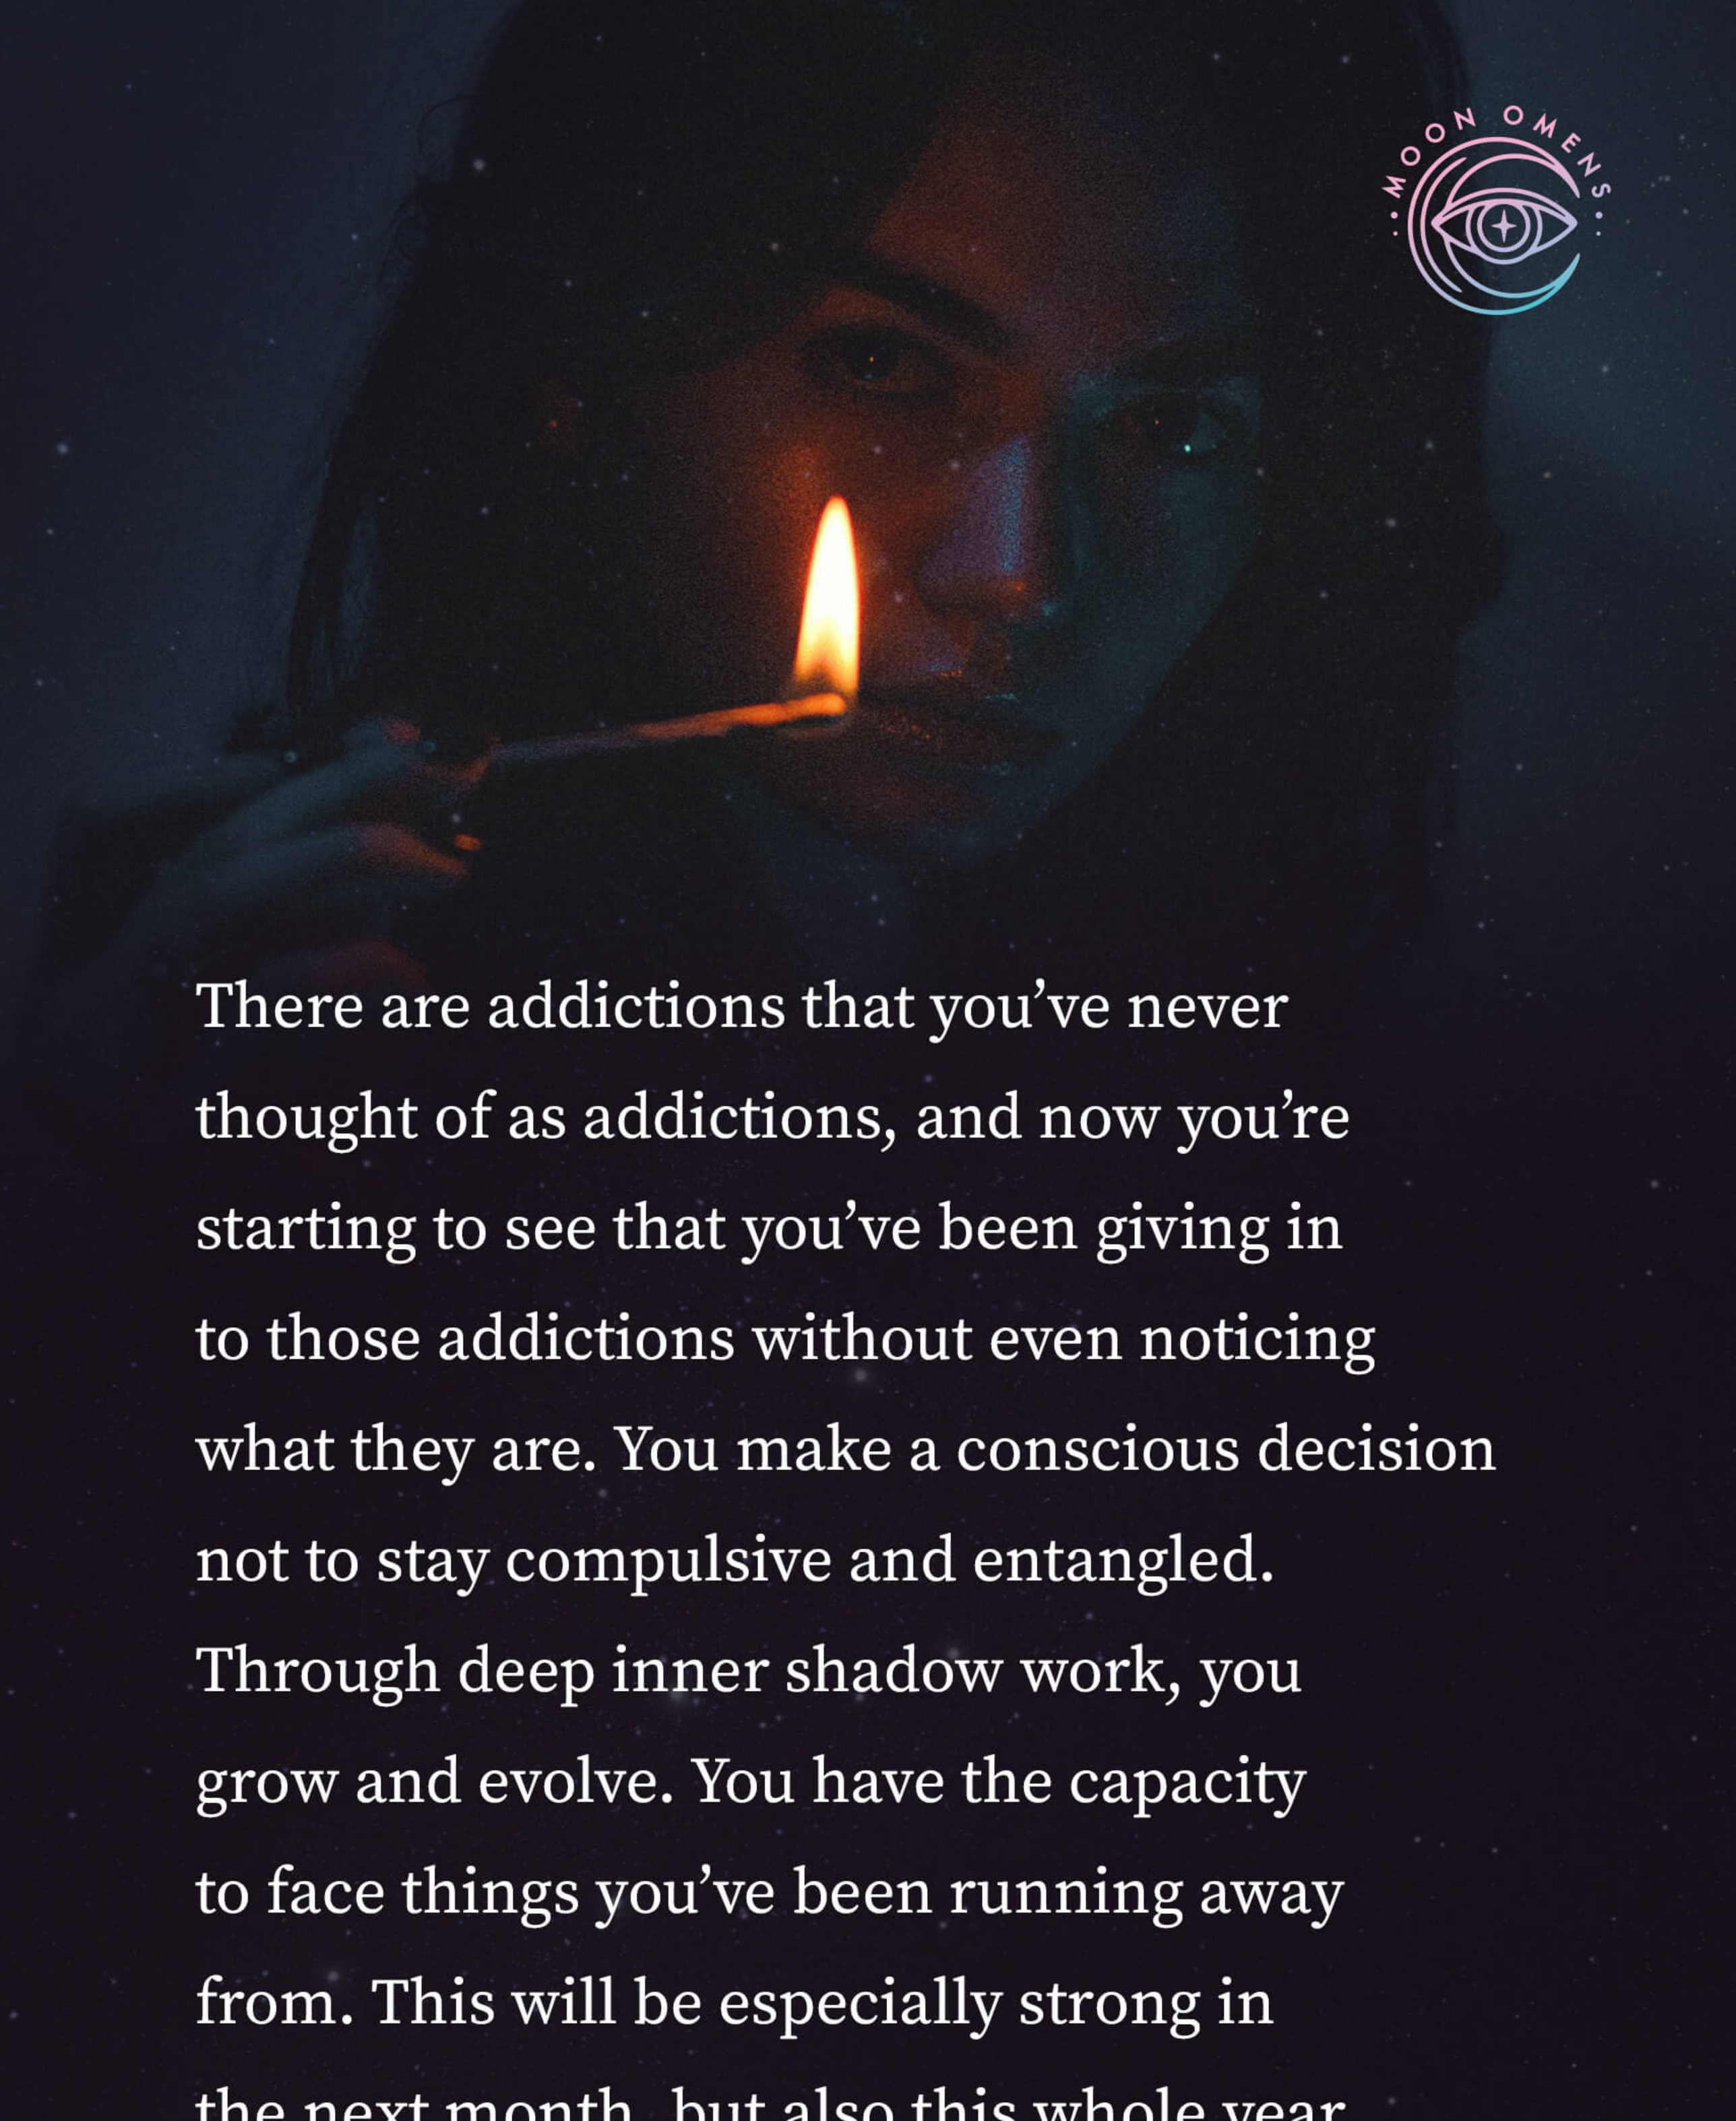
© 2025 MoonOmens.com

Dear Aries, you are starting to trust yourself more, but not your personality, not your egoic conglomerate of who you think you are, but the Self that is aware of mechanical actions within you, the Self that is aware of your wrongdoings and right doings, the Self that is aware of your wants and needs. This month you will be dealing with your past, including things you thought you were done with and patterns that have been self-destructive, damaging, selfish, and unconscious. You are going on an inward journey, and you're contemplating your shadow.

© 2025 MoonOmens.com

Your shadow is not something to be scared of, but it is also not something to be proud of. It is not something you should wear with pride, but it is also not something you should be running away from. Your shadow is full of brilliant potential, and you have to make friends with your shadow without giving it your power. You are also letting go of all kinds of addictions, and this will be an ongoing process for you, dear Aries. There are so many addictions that you're unaware of and that you're revealing now in your life.

© 2025 MoonOmens.com



There are addictions that you've never thought of as addictions, and now you're starting to see that you've been giving in to those addictions without even noticing what they are. You make a conscious decision not to stay compulsive and entangled. Through deep inner shadow work, you grow and evolve. You have the capacity to face things you've been running away from. This will be especially strong in the next month, but also this whole year.

No judgment is necessary in this process.

© 2025 MoonOmens.com

Judgment is not welcomed if it is there only for the sake of playing victim/perpetrator roles. You are done with these roles, and you see them very clearly within yourself and in other people's behaviors too. There are many clear, laser-like insights happening that are accompanied by compassion and the will to change, to truly change. You are working on decreasing suffering and increasing compassion, and this is a holy task. This is your sacred mission, and you are creating a more intimate connection with things from your past too.

© 2025 MoonOmens.com

Your past is very important, and you can discover unimaginable treasures from your past if you're willing to go through some things again, but this time with great awareness and not with resentment or judgment. You are about to truly commit to your growth and to bringing your personal will in alignment with the divine will. You are in search of psychic wholeness and for the Self with a big "S". The gates are opening up this month. Enter without fear.

Part 4

Aries Relationship With Others

© 2025 MoonOmens.com

Dear Aries, you don't have to force anything, and you will apply this in your relationships in a beautiful way. There's a lot of self-work going on, and this will impact your relationships. This will show you what's missing in your relationships. This will show you your own behavior towards others and towards yourself. People from your past may be showing up in the most unusual ways. You can expect news and messages from the past, from people from your past, or from people you haven't seen or heard from in a while.

© 2025 MoonOmens.com

This is a great time for reconnections with people, having a good talk with an old friend, reconciliations and forgiveness, talking about things from the past, and resolving any possible issues from the past with others. You can expect someone to show up in your life who can remind you of someone you already know. It may just be a familiar feeling, a feeling like you have known this person throughout many lifetimes. You may have these feelings with people you already know too.

© 2025 MoonOmens.com

This month, you're digging deep into who you are, and this will initiate you into the new path of how you're doing your relationships. You may be connecting with people with whom you have a lot of things in common, with people you feel you can trust, with people you feel on a deeper level. This is all very amplified thanks to Mercury and Venus retrograde in your sign this whole month. But you still have Mars in Cancer in your fourth house of home and family. This is still an ongoing process of gaining emotional strength and emotional maturity through your family relationships, through resolving family issues, and through facing mother issues perhaps too.

© 2025 MoonOmens.com

There’s a lot of healing within your family members and with people who feel like your family. This is a process that began between September and November and then again starting from the beginning of January.

You will also be dealing with people who are willing to help you with your physical health and your work. There’s a lot of service towards others involved and service from others towards you, and you will know to appreciate it in a new way.

© 2025 MoonOmens.com

This is a time for you to deal with things that have been shut down in your relationships, and this could be related to certain relationships that were important in 2017. You will have a chance to work with things that are left unresolved, and you will have an opportunity for new beginnings in your close personal relationships.

© 2025 MoonOmens.com

Part 5

Aries Love & Romantic Life In March

© 2025 MoonOmens.com

Dear Aries, this month brings you incredible insights about how you've been treating yourself in your love relationships and how you've been dealing with things that have been causing restlessness, insomnia, stress, and nervousness in your love life. You will have an opportunity to work with your past love experiences, with your ex-lovers perhaps if that's something that needs to happen, with people you've felt something for before but nothing happened. You can expect new opportunities and second chances.

© 2025 MoonOmens.com

This is a time for you to see through certain things in your love life that have been self-devaluing and disempowering, but also things that made you act and react in an impulsive, violent, rageful, and angry way. You will see how you've been involved in victim/perpetrator mode, how you've been caught in the web of these roles in your love life and your love relationships. This could be something that your partner points out. This is a great time to remember to listen to your partner, to give him or her space to be heard, and also to allow yourself your own time and space.

© 2025 MoonOmens.com

You can expect connections with people from different lifetimes, fated and destined love connections and attractions, connections that make you feel like you have known this person your whole life. Something very deep, profound, and introspective is happening in your love life and in how you experience love relationships. You are upgrading your role in love relationships, and you're not making any excuses anymore, neither to others nor to yourself.

© 2025 MoonOmens.com

There are intense and challenging moments because you will have Venus retrograde in your sign almost the whole month, and there's a New Moon Solar Eclipse happening in your sign on the 29th. These are big events and challenges that bring and remove significant people from your life. Goodbyes and hellos are possible, and the past is deeply involved. You can resolve things.

© 2025 MoonOmens.com

You can go through certain things from the past in order to gain greater self-worth and self-love that will automatically transform your perception of love relationships and your experience of sharing things with another person. You will also have an opportunity to go through some deep and fiery conversations with your partner. Conflicts are possible, but don't be afraid of conflicts. They're there to serve you and to help both of you learn more and evolve more through mutual trust and mutual understanding.

Part 6

Aries Career & Purpose In March

© 2025 MoonOmens.com

Dear Aries, March is a month that makes you want to do things differently, and you will be willing to make some radical changes in how you do the work that you're doing. There's a Full Moon Lunar Eclipse happening on the 14th of March in Virgo in your sixth house of everyday work, everyday job, organization, schedules, habits, routines, responsibilities, service to others, and obligations. This is something that brings you life-changing connections, situations, and events in these areas of your life.

© 2025 MoonOmens.com

It could be a time when you're saying goodbye to something that probably played a huge role in your life related to your career, your contribution, your role in the world, your way of doing your work, or your lifestyle. You have a lot going on in your sign, and this is bringing you amazing opportunities to achieve your goals and ambitions. Venus and Mercury are both retrograde in your sign, the Sun enters your sign on the 20th, and there's a New Moon Solar Eclipse in your sign on the 29th. This is a party in your sign, and it's intense, challenging, and life-changing. It's upgrading you, and it's taking you to the next level.

© 2025 MoonOmens.com

You may have to deal with things from the past in order to move forward. You may be able to do things you've always wanted to do, things you find pleasurable and enjoyable, but you will get there through past connections, relationships from the past, conversations, and shining your light. You have to be open to collaboration in order to achieve certain success, but first you may have to deal with something from your past that may be standing in your way. You will see if there's a lack of self-trust and self-worth through your job, your work, or your everyday life.

© 2025 MoonOmens.com

This is a time for you to trust your gut feeling and raise your standards regarding who you are and how you do things. You are not asked to compare yourself with others or to compete with others, but to feel the joy of just doing the work that you're doing. If there is no joy, if you're not having fun, if there is no pleasure in it, you may be questioning if you are on the right path. You will be questioning many things in your personal life this month, and more clarity can be expected later in April and during the first half of May.

Part 7

How March Full Moon Lunar Eclipse Will Influence Aries

© 2025 MoonOmens.com

Dear Aries, this Full Moon is not just a regular Full Moon. This is a Lunar Eclipse Full Moon, and it's very intense, potent, and strong, and it can bring life-changing events and situations. This is the first Eclipse in Virgo in a series of Eclipses that will be happening in Virgo/Pisces in the next eighteen months. This one is bringing up things that you will have to deal with. This is a South node Eclipse. The South node represents the tail of the Dragon, and it symbolically represents the past, things you still cling on to, things you're attached to, things you have hard time letting go, things that have perhaps served you well but that you now have to change, release, and transform.

© 2025 MoonOmens.com

This Full Moon Lunar Eclipse is happening in your sixth house of everyday work, everyday routines, everyday habits, your repetitive work and programs, your tasks, duties, obligations, responsibilities, your lifestyle, your health and healing, your well-being, your diet, your workouts, your self-care, your service to others, your efficiency, and your practicality. These are going to be important themes for you, and you are asked to take a good look at your health, your lifestyle, and your habits & routines to see what needs to be upgraded, transformed, improved, or let go.

© 2025 MoonOmens.com

This Lunar Eclipse brings you tension and possible anxiety related to your obligations, your duties, your tasks, your schedules, your health and healing, and your work. You have an opportunity to see what you've been doing in the wrong way, in a way that is not serving you anymore. Is it your diet regime, your exercise regime, your organization, or your lifestyle? You will have a deeper look into these things. With the Virgo Lunar Eclipse, you are asked to purge, detox, cleanse, clean, heal, work on self-development, and work on having pure thoughts, a pure heart, and a pure body.

© 2025 MoonOmens.com

The last time this same series of Eclipses was active was back between March 2006 and February 2008, and also between March 2015 and February 2017. Think back to these periods of time and see if you can connect the dots with what you're experiencing now. You can gain deep insights, and you can do things differently this time. Eclipses and Full Moons bring clarity. They point out what needs to be seen, acknowledged, transformed, and healed. Full Moons bring dramas, culminations, revelations, closures, disclosures, endings, completions, and fulfillments.

© 2025 MoonOmens.com

Eclipses bring fated and destined events, things that are unavoidable, things that are meant to happen, and things your soul wants, not your personality or ego. This Lunar Eclipse is making an opposition with Saturn in Pisces in your twelfth house, and you could be dealing with certain addictions during this time. You may have very vivid and strong prophetic dreams, dreams that bring you significant revelations. This is a time to build self-discipline and to be fully responsible for all that you do, say, think, and feel. It's time to grow up and to do the things that you have to do. No delays.

© 2025 MoonOmens.com

This is a time to build habits and routines that are based on self-healing, self-love, self-nurturance, and self-appreciation, but with awareness of others and with the ability to be of service to others. This Full Moon is making a supportive and friendly trine with Uranus in Taurus in your second house. This is a great time for sudden and unexpected work or jobs that can bring you an unexpected source of income. This can also bring you things you couldn't see coming related to your finances, your earnings, your possessions, and your livelihood.

© 2025 MoonOmens.com

But what's more important than earning money and gaining material stability is your ability to provide yourself with everything you need to be self-sufficient and to value and appreciate yourself and others with integrity and dignity. This trine aspect with Uranus can bring you unexpected opportunities to change your lifestyle for the better and to be able to build yourself in a healthy and sustainable way.

© 2025 MoonOmens.com

This is a Virgo Full Moon, and Virgo is adaptable, caring, organized, observant, pedantic, neat, detailed, diligent, careful, practical, precise, analytical, discerning, efficient, pragmatic, productive, service-oriented, detail-oriented, skillful, intelligent, rational, humble, self-improving, mentally agile, meticulous, modest, helpful, and hardworking. But it can also be too critical, judgmental, skeptical, cynical, fault finding, restless, inhospitable, cold, too work-oriented, too analytical, fussy, irritable, narrow-minded, overly sensitive, perfectionist, reserved, discriminating, and aloof.

© 2025 MoonOmens.com

These Virgo archetypes can be felt in many ways through your health, your routines, your habits, your work, your job, your devotion, your persistence, your practicality, your productivity, your service to others, your organization, and your health and well-being. Do your best to see what it is that you have to say goodbye to and work towards upgrading your life. Work on purifying your mind, body, and soul.

Part 8

How March New Moon Solar Eclipse Will Influence Aries

© 2025 MoonOmens.com

Dear Aries, this New Moon is very significant for you. It is very powerful, initiating, transformative, rebirthing, renewing, and refreshing in every way. This New Moon is not just a regular New Moon. It is a Solar Eclipse, and it's happening in your sign. It is the last Eclipse in a series of Eclipses that has been happening in the last eighteen months in your sign and in your opposite sign, Libra. So, this is a big finale of something, a big ending and beginning that brings you a whole new chapter in your life—a new identity, a new personality, and a new sense of Self.

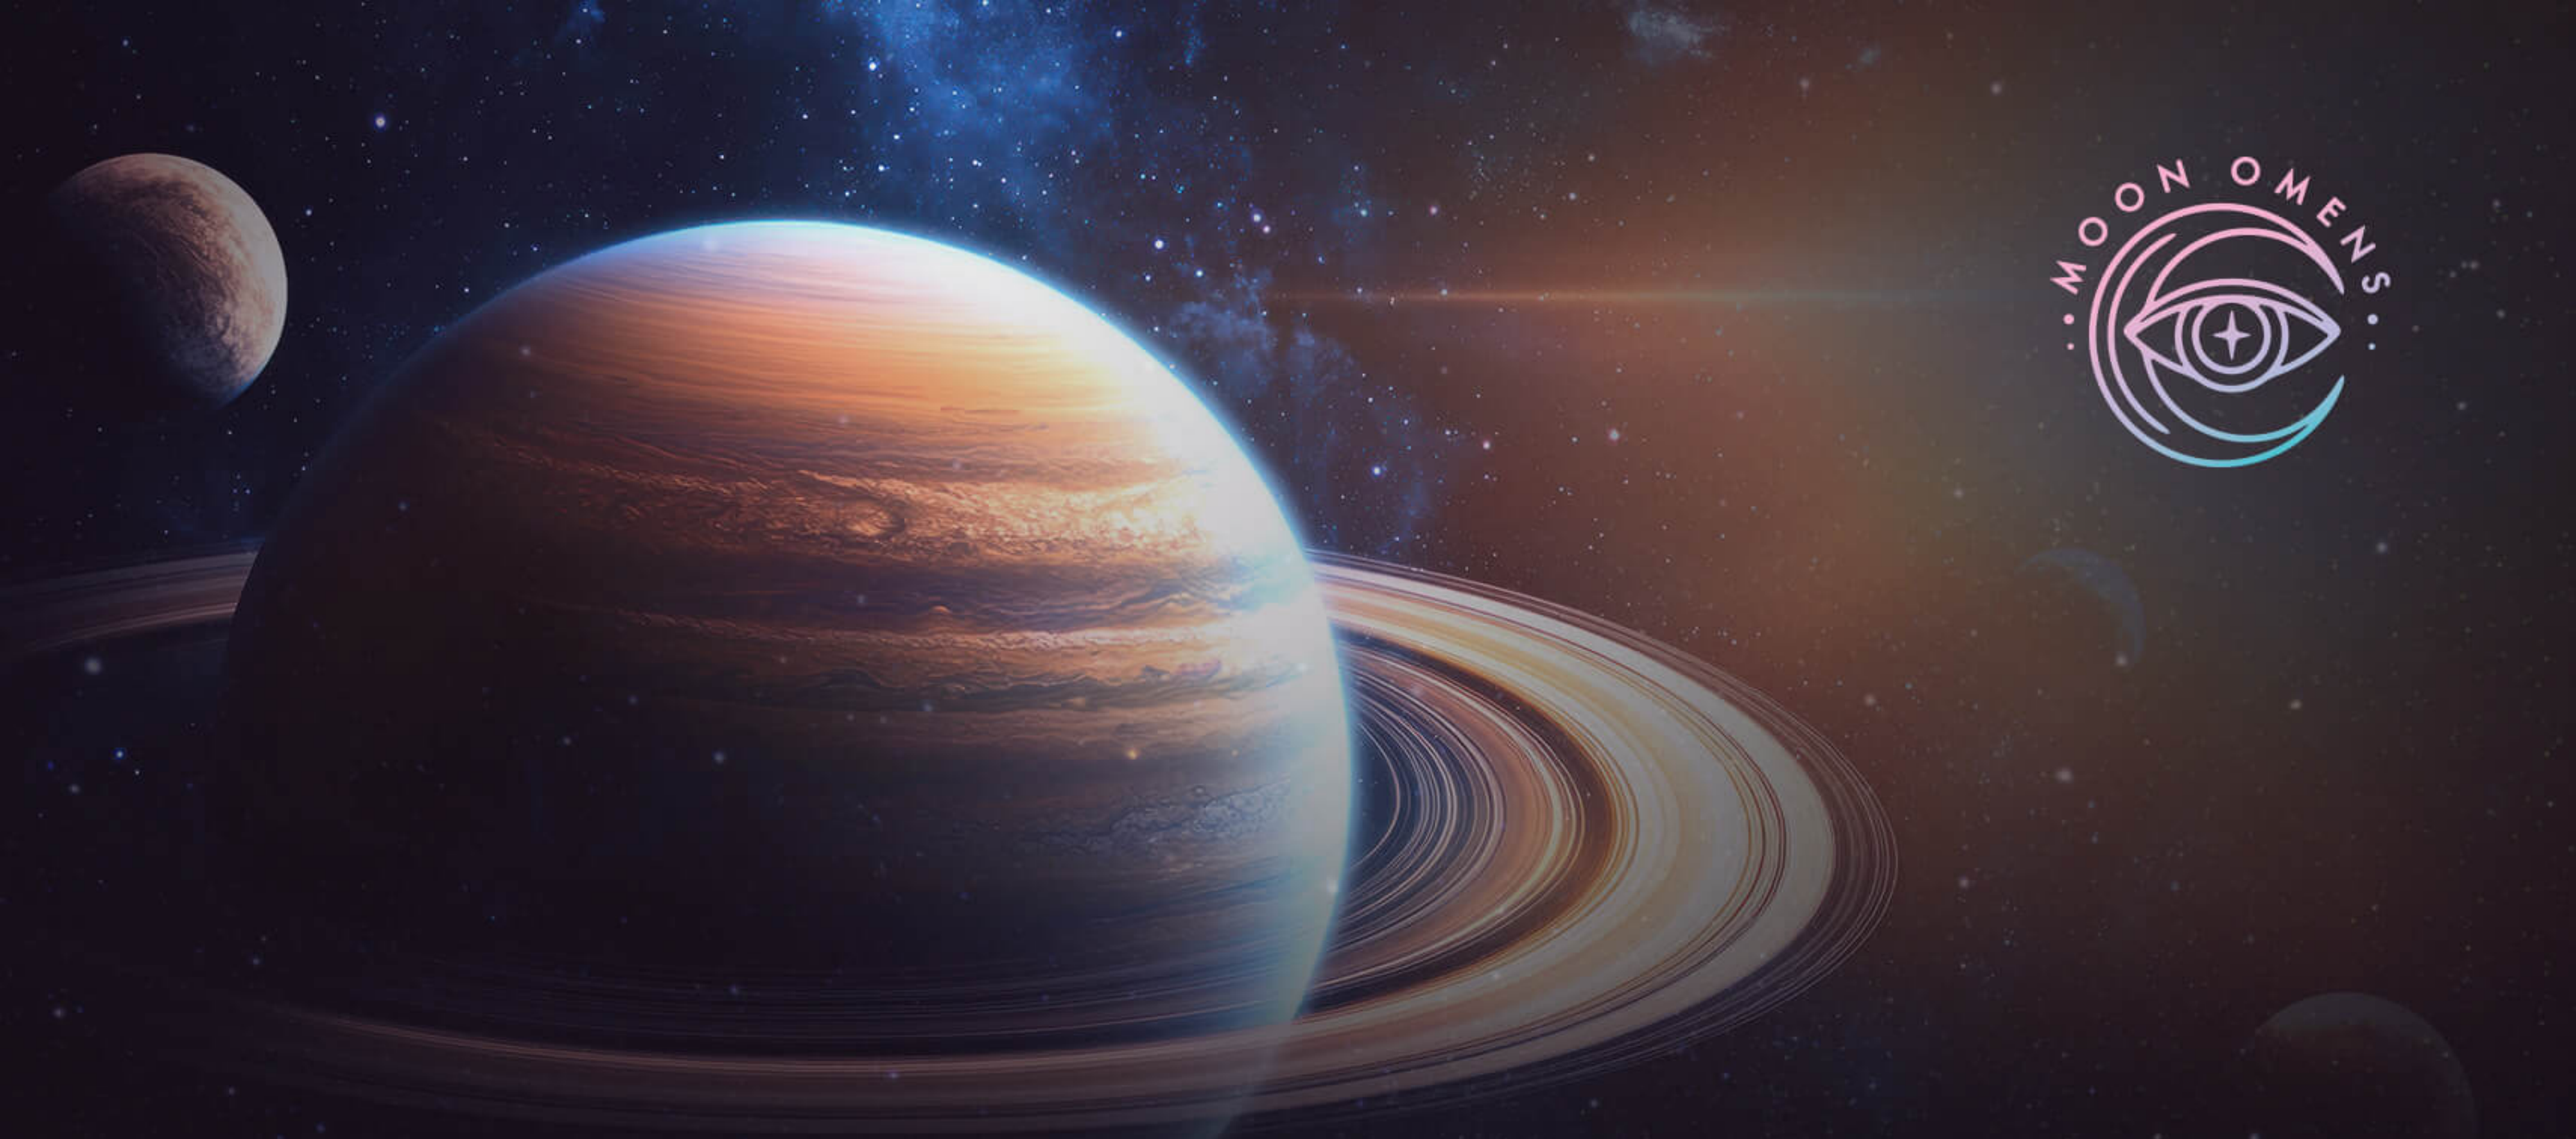
© 2025 MoonOmens.com

This is your time for personal renewal, personal refreshment, and a personal rebirth. It's your New Year, and it's an Eclipse that finishes one cycle of Eclipses that began in April 2023. This Solar Eclipse is happening on the 29th of March, and it's all about who you are, what you want, what you need, how you behave, and how you look. This is your first house of physical appearance and vitality, and you can expect a whole new outlook. You are changing your image and your style, and this is not just an external change. This is a consequence of your inner change.

© 2025 MoonOmens.com

Eclipses bring life-changing events, situations, and relationships, and this one is showing you what you need to do and where you need to go. This is a time for initiations and new beginnings, for doing things differently, for changing your behavior, for being true to who you are no matter what, but also for being wise and compassionate towards others. This is not about just taking care of yourself. This is about self-awareness that unlocks the awareness of other people's wants and needs too. This Solar Eclipse in your sign is not making any challenging aspects with other planets, and this can be a real blessing in your personal life.

© 2025 MoonOmens.com

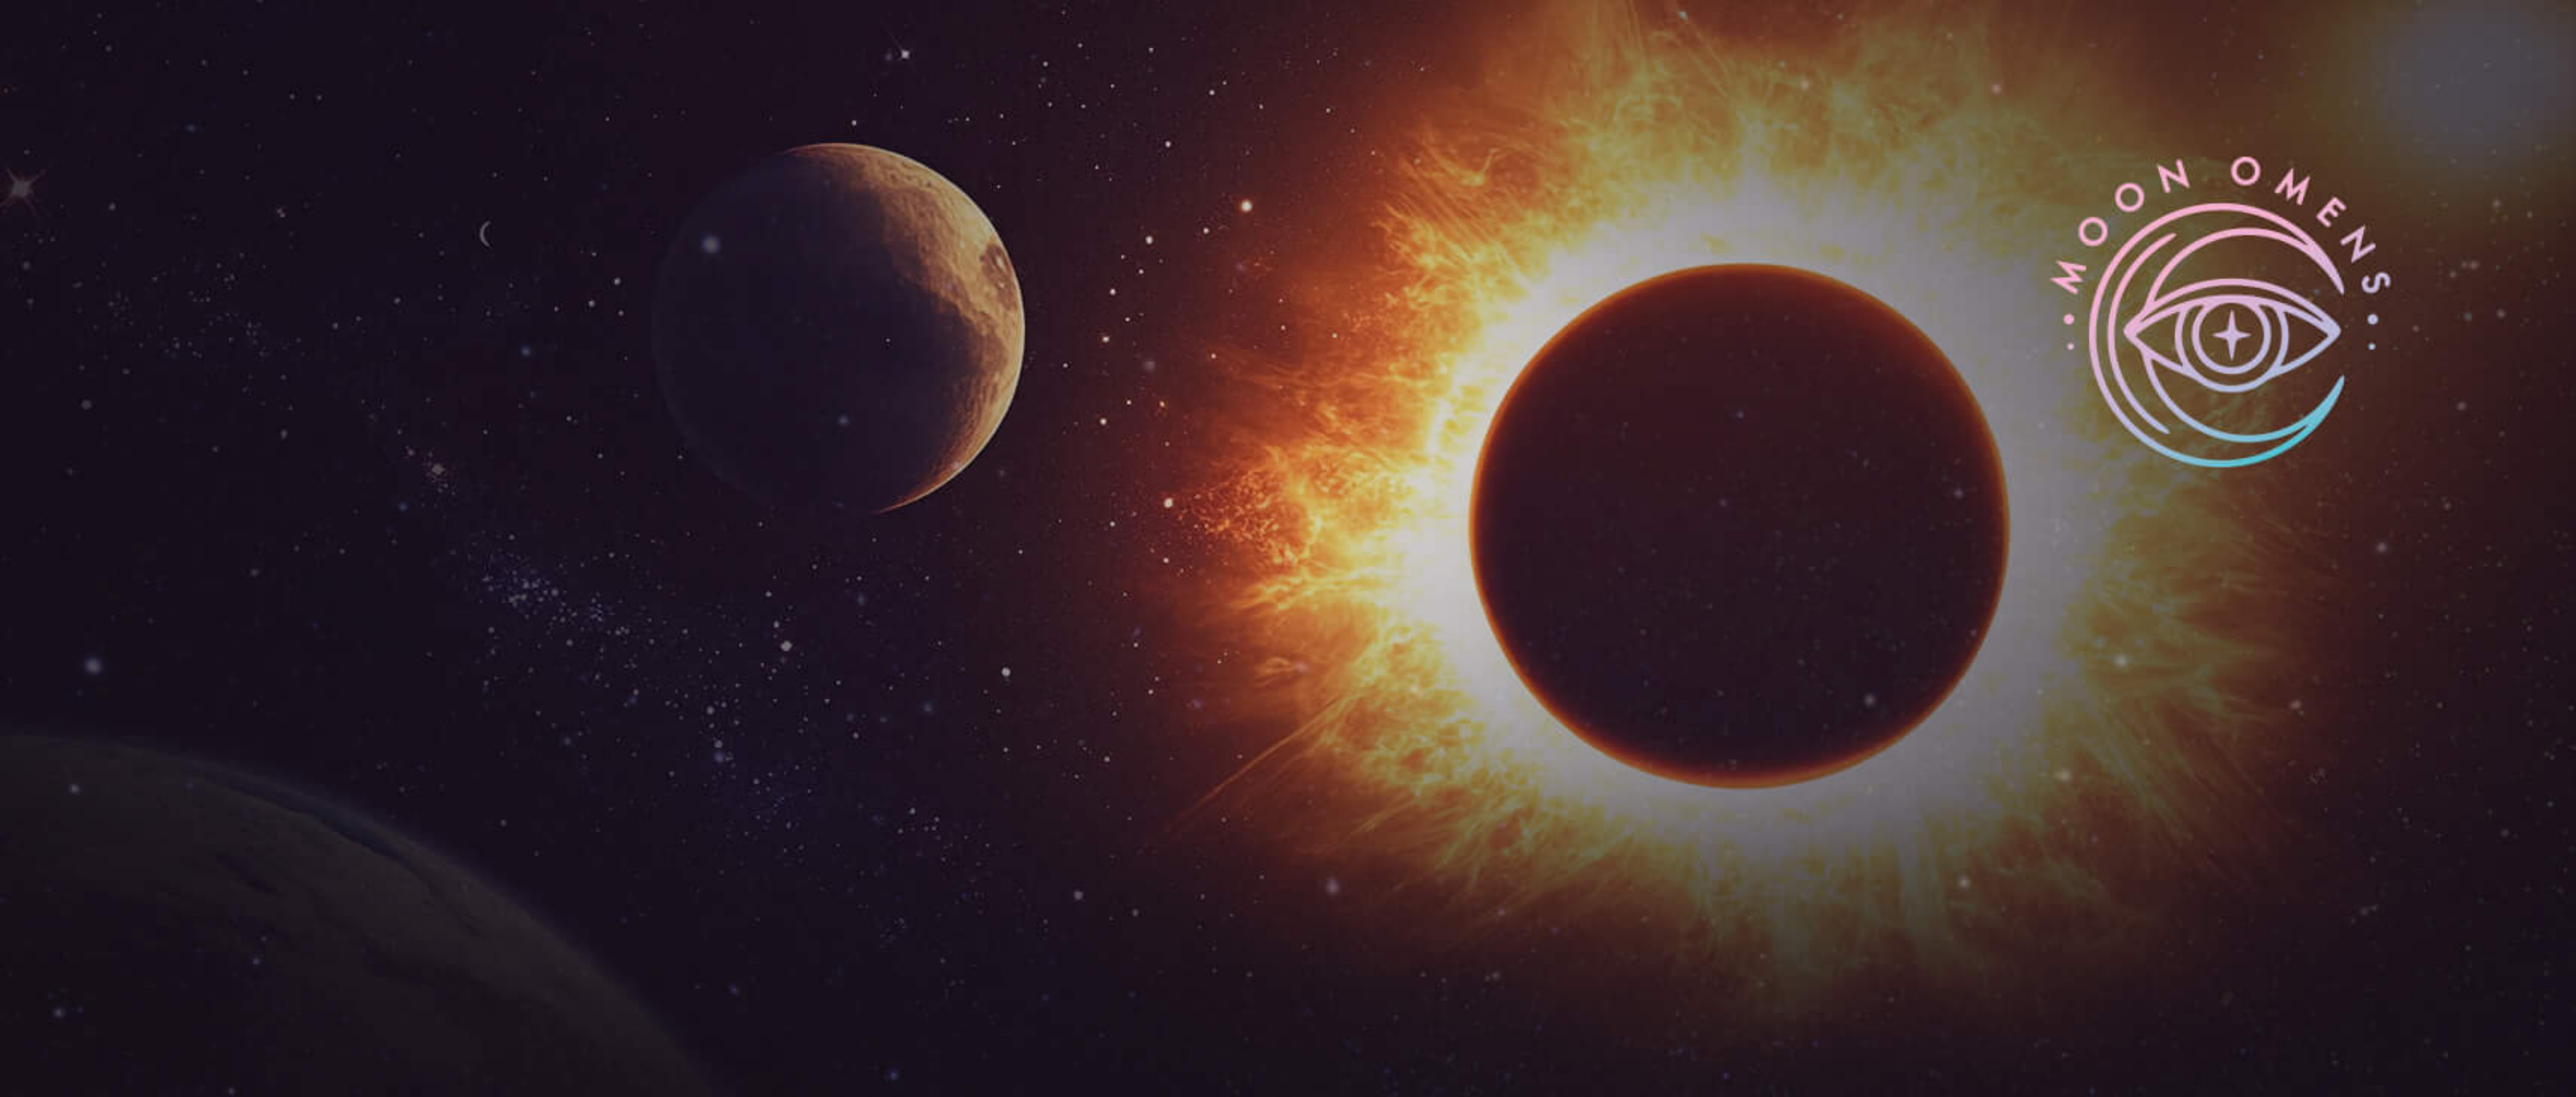


There are no challenging aspects between other planets either, so you truly have an amazing and priceless opportunity for great renewal, for stepping into your new identity, for being more responsible for your actions and reactions, for being more aware of causes and consequences, and for taking care of how you express yourself and what you intend. During the time of this New Moon, your ruler, Mars, makes a harmonious trine with the North node and Saturn in Pisces in your twelfth house.

© 2025 MoonOmens.com

This is truly an amazing time for emotional healing, emotional wisdom, and emotional understanding, for turning towards self-healing, and for really learning how to take care of yourself. This is an initiation into real adulthood and growth. There's a lot of spiritual wisdom here during this time. This is an ideal time for calming your mind and bringing yourself into that state of being where you're just free to be, where you're free from anxious thoughts and feelings. This is a great time for healing through fire and water elements. Research them and recognize them in the world that you're perceiving.

© 2025 MoonOmens.com



Recognize these elements in people you meet and in yourself. Gain wisdom through these elements and allow the fire to purge you and the water to cleanse you. This is an Aries New Moon, and Aries is adventurous, action-oriented, courageous, confident, outspoken, passionate, pioneering, taking initiative, energetic, explorative, extroverted, self-expressive, enterprising, romantic, and direct. But it can also be rude, impatient, impulsive, reactive, violent, aggressive, demanding, restless, pushy, selfish, dominant, argumentative, forceful, hot tempered, bullying, competitive, combustible, and combative. These things can be felt strongly.

© 2025 MoonOmens.com

You may be the one expressing these Aries attributes and recognizing them within you, but you may also be recognizing these archetypes in other people's behaviors. No matter which way it goes, this is a message for you, and it's there for a reason. It's bringing you new opportunities, new possibilities, and a new identity. Do something new with your life, your physical appearance, or how you behave, act, and react. Be daring, be bold, and be independent. Do something pioneering and different, something that will bring you a new and fresh sense of self, something you've never done before, something that uplifts your whole body, mind, and soul. Plant new seeds, set new intentions, and help yourself grow.

Part 9

Tarot Card Reading For March

© 2025 MoonOmens.com

Dear Aries, your Tarot card for March is Justice upright. This card belongs to the Major Arcana deck, and it's a very powerful card. It represents justice, law, truth, legal matters, balance, equality, and the law of cause and effect. This card also represents karma and consequences, integrity and fairness. It is a symbol of truth and justice. In this card, we see a woman holding scales in her left hand and a sword turned upward in her right hand. This is also about balancing logic and intuition.

© 2025 MoonOmens.com

The scales are totally balanced in the card, and the sword is straight, vertically aligned. She is wearing a red cloak, a stole, which represents wisdom and knowledge. She sits between two pillars, and this can also represent law and order, structure and balance. There is the symbol of a square on her crown, and this represents groundedness and clarity, common sense, and a high level of knowledge, as well as the four elements and the four sides of the world, so she has insight into four dimensions.

She is conscious, and she is royal.

© 2025 MoonOmens.com

This card shows that there is a great search for truth, meaning, and greater knowledge and wisdom. This card shows that the truth will come out. If you've been wronged in any way or if you have wronged someone, now is the time to resolve this and take responsibility for your actions. You may be working on righting your wrongs, but also others may be working on righting their wrongs with you. This card means that there is a fair outcome of any conflicted or heavy situation. Wrongs are always balanced with rights, and this is what is happening for you now. This is about universal justice.

© 2025 MoonOmens.com

This card also means that you're searching for equilibrium, you are searching for that perfect balance, and you are on the quest for the truth. Legal things can also be resolved during this time, and justice shall be done. Thought and action are balanced, and decisions you're making during this time have a long-term effect. This card is here to remind you of what is right. If you've been misled by wrong beliefs and wrong moves, you will be redirected on the right path.

© 2025 MoonOmens.com

This card suggests relief if you've suffered injustice or if you've been a victim of false accusations of any kind. This card means that order is restored. If someone has been a victim of your false accusation or inappropriate reaction, you have the chance to make things right and to correct this. This card also says that it's time for you to take responsibility and consider everything carefully before making any major decisions. Make sure to be honest and speak the truth. Things you do right during this time will have a very beneficial long-term effect in your life. See if there is something that you owe to someone, and make things right with others. Do what needs to be done.

There is a decision that needs to be made, and you're asked to take a good look at it and think carefully. Use wisdom and strategy, common sense and logic, and wait until you have enough information before making any big decisions. You may be dealing with consequences of certain past decisions, which is good because this means that you're correcting these things and making space for right choices and decisions. You can also count on somebody's help during this time, maybe someone who is connected to law and legal matters if you need this kind of help.

The Most Impactful Planet For Aries In March

© 2025 MoonOmens.com

Dear Aries, the most impactful and meaningful energetic influence of planetary energies for you this month is the energy of the Moon. There's a New Moon Solar Eclipse happening in your sign, and this is the last Eclipse in this series of Eclipses, so it's very significant and life changing for you. This is happening at the very end of the month, but you will be feeling it the whole month since Eclipses are felt four to six weeks before and after their exact date. This is a time for a life-changing new beginning, doing things in a new and different way, saying goodbye to your old sense of self, and allowing yourself to start a new chapter of your life that will be important in the next nineteen years.

The Moon is one of the most influential planets in Astrology. Together with the Sun, it forms unity. The Sun and the Moon are two eyes, two lights, silver and gold, honey and milk, feminine and masculine, plus and minus. They are two energies that keep things in balance. They rule the night and the day. The Moon is all about maternal instincts; it is about emotions and different phases. It rules our moods and the shifts of our mind and heart.

The Moon represents our need for security and stability. It rules our comfort zone, the things we're used to—it is our nest and our relationship with our mother but also with Mother Nature and with our inner Goddess and inner Mother, regardless of our gender. The Moon represents nurturing energy, caring energy, and nourishing energy, and it is also associated with the mind and fluctuations of the mind. The Moon can make us overly emotional, overly reactive, easily provoked, and irritated, and it can also make us compassionate, kind, gentle, and friendly. It is always a reminder that we have to work with our emotions and channel them in the right way.

The Moon represents people and their influence on us as individuals. It rules our daily life and daily habits, and it connects our brain and our belly, our mind and our heart, our nerves and our cells. It governs the rhythm of the body and our routines and habits. The Moon quickly changes its phases. It moves from waning to waxing phase, and it affects the fluids and the water in our body; water symbolically always represents emotions, so these are emotional fluctuations too.

The Moon is also related to receptive energy, to the feminine principle, to instincts and intuition, rhythms and cycles. The Moon rules our digestive system and our eating patterns related to our emotions. The Moon rules our reactions, the way we react, our unconsciousness & unconscious patterns, our relationship with the mother, our past, our past lives, our growing up, and our subconscious habits. It rules our memories and our feelings that are packed with those memories.

The Moon also has a lot to do with our soul food, what feeds our soul. The Moon has always been related to dreams, beauty, and imagination, and it also rules fertility and pregnancy. The Moon represents our home and our family, our roots and our ancestors, and it also rules our own space and our need for security.

In order to channel the energy of the Moon in the most daring, courageous, constructive, empowering, self-assertive, and transformative way, you are invited to deal with your suppressed wants and needs, acknowledge your hidden attachments, acknowledge suppressed feelings and make the invisible visible, make the unknown known, make the untouchable touchable, make the unconscious conscious, and make the intangible tangible. This is a powerful time for treating yourself right, valuing and appreciating yourself, and doing something that you'd never do in any other way that is good and constructive for you.

It’s time to stop pleasing others. It’s time to stop doing things that are against you. It’s time to stop fulfilling other people’s wants and needs before you consult yourself, before you see what your wants and needs are. But also, if you’ve been selfish, if you haven’t considered other people’s wants and needs, if you’ve been taking advantage of others, now is the time to change that. Apologize, forgive yourself, admit your egocentric behavior, and let it go. Learn from others, hear others, and allow others to be unique and authentic.

This is an ideal time to deal with a lack of self-worth or with a grandeur complex. This is a powerful time to recognize where you're lacking self-worth and where you're expressing self-grandeur complex. This will help you heal in many areas of your life. This will help you deal with yourself and others. This is also a great time to change your physical appearance in some way—your image, your style, or your look. Do something different. Get rid of old things and give them away to those who need it. Don't allow yourself to be identified by your past.

Focus on the now, on what's in front of you, and work with that without bringing old expectations and old emotions into the present. Don't bring feelings from the past into your new experiences. Allow yourself to be renewed, refreshed, and rebirthed.

Give yourself permission to be loved by life, to be loved by you, and to be loved by others.

Let go of stiffness. Practice being flexible and allow yourself to feel yourself fully, to feel one hundred percent of yourself without denying, ignoring, neglecting, or avoiding any part of yourself.

Do small rituals with the Moon on Mondays because Monday is the Moon's day. Wear something white or silver to enhance the influence of the Moon. Connect with elements, with Air, Fire, Earth, and Water. Feel all these elements. Find them in nature and in yourself. Honor them and be more aware of their presence, their significance, and their essence. Walk barefoot if you can. Be more in nature. Observe branches, leaves, soil, and water. Feel the air, feel the heat, and sing under the moonlight. Sing to your higher self. Sing the song of awakening of your soul.

Healing Tips For Aries In March

© 2025 MoonOmens.com

- Count numbers in your head in this way: 1, 3, 5, 7, 9 and then go backwards, 9, 7, 5, 3, 1. While you do this, remember what you did from the moment you woke up until now. Replay your day in your head as you're counting. This will become easy as you practice because counting will become a background process, but it will keep you concentrated. This is fantastic exercise for concentration, focus, being present, memory, and awareness. These exercises help you build a better life because your mental patterns will be corrected, and you will be able to think in the right way. Your perception will become clearer and clearer.

- Think about something unexpected and positive that could happen in your life. Imagine how this happens. Imagine the whole scene—the events, the people, and the flow of the story. See it all happening. Go through it. This is something that you would love to happen, something that happens as a surprise, unexpectedly, out of nowhere, but that surprises you in a wonderful and positive way. What is this? How do you see it happening? How do you react to this positive surprise? How do you feel?

Describe everything to yourself. See the whole story, live it, and create this whole situation in you. Look at it, live it, feel it, and enliven it. Transfer that feeling that you have into your life. Try to bring that feeling from imagination into your feeling at the present moment and do this daily. You can play with this in any way you want. You can imagine something different every day, new beautiful surprises. Really feel this happening—don't think of it as something only in your imagination. Bring it to life. Create this mental projection and bring that feeling into your life. Have fun and enjoy.

- Write down five things that make you feel light, beautiful, happy, joyful, and sincerely fulfilled. What are these things? What brings you to those states? Now, next to each of these five things, write down three words that describe each of them. For example, if one of those five things is the Sun, describe the Sun in three words: warmth, light, life, for example. Do this for each of the five things. Then create sentences out of these three words that describe each of these five things. Create a sentence that uses these three words in any way you want, but make sure that the sentence is in affirmative mode. Use these five sentences as your own affirmations each day.

- Try to imagine your life without your past. Practice living your life as if you don't have a past at all. This is not easy to achieve, but it is not impossible either. You can do this. Practice it daily all the time. No memories—everything is now. There are no memories and no previous experiences, no previous knowledge of people in your life either. Try to approach people in your life as if you know nothing about them, as if you are seeing them and meeting them for the first time. Reset yourself each time you come in contact with them and see how this affects your life. See how this changes the situations with people. Practice, have fun, and enjoy.

- Choose one song that represents you right now in the best possible way. If you could be a song, which song would you be? Think about it carefully. Then, listen to this song. See why you chose this song. See how it makes you feel. See what you can learn from this song about yourself. See what it has to tell you. You chose this song for some reason, now go through it and see how it helps you. See what it has to reveal to you about you. Try to gain as much as you can through this.

How To Use March Energies In The Best Possible Way

© 2025 MoonOmens.com

- Give someone a present. Observe what the other person might need that you can afford or create and give this present to this person. Feel the joy of giving someone a present. Surprise someone with this.

- Go outside and watch the clouds and the sky. Observe it and tap into that moment and that feeling. Don't let your focus be on buildings. Try to go somewhere where there is nothing but the trees that could disturb your view. Find some place from where you can skygaze and stargaze. Do it during the day but watch the night sky as well. This will help you awaken those higher states of being. This will help you release stress and feel better. This will help you relax and increase the quality of your life.

© 2025 MoonOmens.com

- Go outside at night and connect with the energy of the Moon when the Moon is visible in the sky. Feel the Moonlight and observe the Moon. Find your perfect spot to do this. You can choose those nights when the Moon is at its brightest, when it's Full & those days around the Full Moon. Spend time with the Moon. Feel the connection. Feel the direct link between you and the Moon. Enjoy your Moon gazing and feel the power of the Moon inside of you too.

- Do something different with your physical appearance—wear something new, change colors that you wear, add some new detail, change your hair in some way, wear new jewelry, or put on something that shines a new light on you. Change something in the way you look, something that will be noticed. Have fun.

© 2025 MoonOmens.com

- Every day when you wake up, give yourself a boost of good energy by wishing yourself a very good day, an excellent day, a quality day, a day in which you can learn new things, a day that counts, a day that will teach you valuable things, a day in which you will express your best qualities, your virtues, your talents, and your soul. Really mean these things and really do your best to spend the day in this way. Learn, make the most out of it, expand your vision and knowledge, express your qualities, express your virtues, and express the best of yourself.
